

The Proportionality Note

The four-part test, actually run.

The feature: in one line.

The legitimate aim: it serves, and whose aim it is.

Necessity: the less intrusive designs considered, and why each was or was not enough. If none were considered, that is your first finding.

The intrusion: which right, whose, how deep, for how long.

The balance: struck in writing, with the losing side's cost stated fairly.

Verdict and conditions: proceed, proceed-if, or do not.

A four-part test is not decoration. If any part of it is missing, the answer was never actually tested, whatever the sign-off says.
