

The Lawful-Versus-Right Memo

For the day legal sign-off ends the conversation early.

The decision: in one line.

What the law requires: cited. What legal sign-off concluded, quoted.

The concern that remains: after the law is satisfied, stated concretely and without the word ethics. Who is affected, how, and how you know.

What you propose: doing about the remainder, and what it costs.

Lawful and right are different questions. This memo exists to stop them being quietly merged.
